B. H. S. SEWING CLASS WILL EXHIBIT WINTER'S WORK

One of the most interesting features connected with the High school course of study this year was the Sewing Class organized under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association by Miss Marjorie Lewis an extension worker from the Pennsylvania State Agricultural College aided by Miss Enfield who most successfully has completed the course of study outlined for the girls. Many garments have been made and will be on display at the P. T. A. meeting in Assembly Hall, Tuesday evening, March 24th at eight o'clock. Competent judges will decide upon the merits of the samples of darning, hand and machine sewing, underwear, dresses, smocks, kimono and hats made by the girls. A very short program will be rendered with music by the High School Orchestra and an interesting report of the Annual Convention of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Association. Encourage the class in their efforts to acquire some of the practical arts of home life by your presence at this meeting.

Franklin K. Lane, Dead.

Franklin K. Lane, Ex-Secretary of the Interior, died suddenly Wednesday, at Rochester, Minnesota, following an attack of heart disease. He served in President Wilson's Cabinet and was considered one of the strongest men in the services of the Government. He resigned in 1920 to go into private business. When he resigned efforts were made to construe the act as a break with Wilson but there was no truth to the report as the President and Mr. Lane were on the most friendly terms.

Big Republican Expenditures

The Republicans are providing big limousines costing $8000 for their cabinet officers. Attorney General Palmer couldn't get an appropriation for a cheap car, but the Republicans want to reduce expenses so they buy a car for $8000 for the pleasure of the million-dollar cab to make up the deficiency. It looks as if Cox's predictions are coming true, "bayonets at the factory door".

MR. AND MRS. ESPENSCHADE ENTERTAIN EMPLOYEES.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Espenschied entertained the employees of his department store at their home on Luthardt Street this week. The regular monthly employees of the store were entertained on Tuesday evening, the extra help on Wednesday evening and the regular lady employees on Thursday evening.

On each evening a sumptuous dinner was served at 5:30 p. m. and a pleasant social hour or two followed, interspersed with music.

Eighteen employees enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. Espenschied.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wolf of W. Pitt st. was the scene of a pleasant surprise on Saturday, May 14, in honor of Mrs. Wolf's mother, Mrs. Catharine Diehl, who on that day reached her eightieth milestone.

"Grandma Diehl" as she is familiarly known, was not forgotten on this occasion by a child, grandchild or great grandchild, and those few who could not be present sent her beautiful gifts of love and remembrances.

The dinner prepared by Mrs. Wolf, aided by the baskets brought was one long to be remembered by all present.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Phil Smith and daughter, Margaret, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Diehl and daughters Loretta, Marie and Mrs. Carl DuVall, of Cumberland, Md., Mrs. Catharine Diehl, Mrs. Mae Hale and daughter, Effie, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Close and daughter, Anita, of Hyndman, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wolf and son, Burdette, Mrs. Percy Wolf and son, William, Mrs. Mary E. England, Mrs. Rose Lutz and son, Clifton, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Hale, Mr. J. H. L. Shafer, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Diehl and sons, Walter and Bernard, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beagle and daughters, Grace and Gladys Leone, sons Luther and Kenneth, Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Shafer and children, John, Catharine and Arvilla.

HIGH SCHOOL CLUB MEETS.

The High School Literary Society held its meeting for this term on Friday evening in Assembly Hall. H. C. Heckerman of this place had offered $10 and $5 gold pieces and the contest closed with these exercises. The first prize was awarded to Charlotte Brightbill, of this place, and the second to Eva Mason, of Osterburg; Everard Leberknight, of this place, was awarded "honorable mention." The other contestants were Madalyn Wendrick, Ellerslie, Md., Nancy Jennings, Schellsburg and Marie Donahoe, Smith Crossing.

There was an all-day meeting with dinner on the ground at the Petunia ridge church last Sunday and everything passed off most pleasantly except in one instance when Dag Smith got a "bawling out" by some woman for stepping on her nice table cloth while reaching after pies. Dag tried to square himself by pulling off his shoes and performing in his sock feet during the rest of the meal.

FARM BUREAU TO HOLD JUDGING CONTESTS AND TOUR.

The boys and girls judging contest and tour will be staged by the Bedford and Blair County Farm Bureaus on Friday, June 3rd.

The Farm Bureaus of both Counties wish to provide education and practice in judging dairy cattle, and also have taken this means of selecting teams to enter the dairy cattle judging contest at the Pennsylvania State College during Farmers' Week. The programme for the day is as follows:

9.00 A. M.—Visits to high class dairy herds and judging.

12.00 A. M.—Picnic Lunch—furnished at cost—probably 40c.

1.00 P. M.—Inspection of Vocational High School (tentative).

2.00 P. M.—Continue visits to dairy herds and judging.

4.30 P. M.—Separate for home.

Any boy or girl who wishes to enter this contest and tour should send their names, addresses, age and parents or guardians name to County Agent, L. R. Mollenauer, by June 1st.

They may enter as individuals or as members of a team of three representing a community or grange. The three highest individuals in dairy cattle judging, as shown on June 3rd, will compose a team to represent Bedford County in the State wide contest during Farmers' Week at State College. Blair County is also planning to choose a team of three.

Farmers' Week will be held during the week of June 20th.

OTHER HIGH LIGHTS TO BE REMEMBERED.

Any boy or girl under nineteen years of age will be eligible to make the State College team, provided, that they have not had judging instructions at any college, or entered in any State wide judging contest.

Older boys and girls to the age of twenty-one years will be welcome to go on the tour, but will not be considered for the County team.

Granges or Communities are urged to send a team of three members representing them.

The three highest standing individuals will make up the team to represent Bedford County at State College regardless of whether or not they entered as individuals or as members of a grange or community team.

Bedford and Blair Counties are joining in this project in order to economize in help of specialists from the College, who are exceedingly busy at that time. Farmers having pure bred herds of unusual merit will furnish the cattle for the judging work. Since they are also busy at this time of the year a joint tour and contest would not impose on their time for more than a part of one day.

A CHANGED BRYAN

The other day William J. Bryan said: I'm just a political gardener watering flowers wherever I think it will do the most good." This expression indicates that with age Mr. Bryan is becoming mellowed and looks on life with kinder feelings than when he traveled the country preaching his "cross of gold." It denotes the man who finds things in pretty good shape with only a touch needed here and there, a drop of water placed on a drooping plant, but the garden in fair condition. The agitator, the crusader, could hardly drop into such a form of expression but one who had come to the conclusion that the world is a rather good place in which to live, that most people are pretty decent and want to do the right thing, might put it thus. Of course his reference to water is not inappropriate. He has long been devoted to water and in many cases uses it when others wouldn't, if he does not take grape juice. He is firm on morals. Bryan is no longer feared as a disturber except by those who oppose the principle of prohibition.

DEDICATION OF MONUMENT 125th PENNSYLVANIA REGIMENT OF THE CIVIL WAR

The monument erected by the Regimental Association of this Regiment to the memory of their Colonel, Jacob Higgins, will be unveiled and dedicated in Grandview Cemetery, Johnstown, Penna., on Saturday afternoon, May 28th, at 2:00 o'clock.

Members of the Regiment are requested to meet at the Post Room of Emory Fisher Post No. 30, G. A. R. Johnstown, at 1:30 P. M.

Those going from Huntingdon, Tyrone and Altoona should take Train No. 601, leaving Huntingdon 10:13 A. M.

Frederick W. Groby.

The body of Frederick W. Groby, of River Edge, N. J., arrived here at six o'clock Monday evening and interment was made in the Mann plot in the Bedford cemetery, services being conducted at the grave by Rev. W. H. B. Carney, Trinity Lutheran Church, Mr. Groby had been in Chicago on a business trip and died suddenly in that city Friday night, his wife reaching there the following morning. Mr. Groby was well and favorably known here. His wife was Miss Blanch Mann of this place, who survives.

KOONTZ-CONNER

John W. Koontz, of Everett, and Rosie Conner, of Bedford were united in marriage at the Reformed parsonage, Bedford, on Monday afternoon, May 16th by Rev. J. Albert Eyer using the ring ceremony.

ANOTHER FOOL POSTMASTER GENERAL.

SOCIALIST DAILY BARRED BY BY HAYS AFTER MAILING

New Yorker Volkszeitung Not Told Particularly Why Edition Was Unmailable.

Postmaster General Hays suppressed the May 4 issue of the New Yorker Volkszeitung, a daily published at No. 15 Spruce Street. In announcing this fact yesterday the Volkszeitung said:

"Will Hays, the new Czar of the Post Office Department, announced for the tenth time a few weeks ago that he did not assume the part of a censor of the press."

"The Volkszeitung was to-day notified that the May 4 edition cannot be forwarded for violation of section 431 of the Espionage Law. Nobody knows in what part of the edition the offense was committed. Probably not even the stupid Post Office censor knows."

He calls Hays "stupid" and "Czar" and "Will". It is especially gratifying to Democrats to know that the new administration is falling into the footsteps of the Wilson Administration even down to slush stuff the Republicans put over. Burlestone never got any worse stroke than the above Editor gave Hays. It's coming slowly but surely.

RAILROADS AS CROAKERS

Daniel Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio follows Julius Kruttschnitt of the Southern Pacific in telling the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce that private ownership of railroads cannot survive and must give way to public ownership unless something is done right away either to reduce their cost or increase their income.

As it begins, so this plaintive song of hopelessness and despair is likely to continue from the railroad executives as one by one they go up to the Capitol to express their views. We have yet to hear from them a word which would seem to recognize that current business and traffic conditions are wholly exceptional in the extent of their depression, nor does it appear likely that his since will soon be broken. But it is becoming about time for some one to ask the railroad executives whether they know that the times are lean and hard in a business way and whether, if they do expect that this situation will continue indefinitely as the normal industrial state of the country with the Party of Prosperity in power.

Cannot the railroads stand a lean year without so much squalling? most other business have to do it and are unable to command special Congressional inquiries with a view to gaining Government help in their passing distress. The great American croaker has heretofore been the farmer, who is always going out of business every time a single crop happens to fail. But his place along this line of activity seems to be passing to the average American railroad executive, who is throwing up his hands in despair every time a wave of depression passes over the land and is going to unload the hopeless wreckage upon the Government straight off unless something is done by the Government in protection against all business vicissitudes.

COUNTIES TO LOSE MUCH UNDER THE NEW DOG ACT

Governor Signs the Bill Which Turns All Such License Fees into State Treasury.

JUGGLED BY LEGISLATURE

Plan of Commissioners to Save Themselves Work Charged in Last Hours of Session.

Harrisburg, May 28—Governor Sprout today signed the new dog license bill, which takes from the counties the money collected from that source and turns it into the State Treasury. Last year $418,307 was collected from dog licenses, and after paying the expenses incident to the enforcement of the law and the damages incurred by farmers in the less or livestock and poultry the counties received $292,275. The new law, which supersedes the old law of 1917, centralizes authority by placing full power for its enforcement in the hands of the Secretary of Agriculture. Formerly the County Commissioners had charge of the enforcement.

Many commissioners tired of the job, which frequently aroused trouble among their constituents, and they were the main advocates of the plan to place enforcement in the hands of the Secretary of Agriculture. It is not believed, however, the commissioners intended the license money to be turned into the State coffers, but an amendment in the Senate in the closing days of the Legislature turned the bill into a revenue raiser for the State.

On or before January 15 owners of dogs more than six months old must obtain licenses from the county treasurers, who are allowed 10 cents for issuing them. As the law now stands, the license imposed is $1 for male dog and $2 for unsprayed females. Under the old law, $1 was paid for killing an unlicensed dog, but the new law allows $2 and also $2 for seizing and detaining a stray canine. The Secretary of Agriculture is empowered to appoint special officers to enforce the act and is to hold hearings to determine damages in cases where dogs attack livestock or poultry.

Philadelphia county received $30,113 for the enforcement of the dog license law last year. Other counties in the vicinity received the following amounts: Montgomery, $12,384; Bucks, $7167; Chester, $8922; Berks, $12,689; Lehigh, $6305; Lebanon, $4236; Lancaster, $13,501; Schuylkill, $2693, and Dauphin $5247. Considerable resentment has been aroused in a number of counties against the loss of this source of revenue.

Eighteen thousand dollars was cut from the $304,000 appropriation bill for the State Soldiers' Orphans' School at Scotland by Governor Sprout in his first action on an appropriation bill since the Legislature adjourned. He said he made the reductions because of lack of revenue; Capitol Hill takes it as an indication of other cuts coming. The general maintenance item is reduced from $248,000 to $230,000; electrical equipment, from $23,000 to $18,000; water lines, from $8000 to $6000; and farm land, livestock and implements, from $12,000 to $9000.

Just 254 bills of general character have been approved by the Governor, who has also approved 42 appropriation bills, making a total of 296 bills signed. Fourteen have been vetoed and 42 of the 1060 which reached the Governor were recalled. As the bulk of the bills remaining in the hands of the Governor are appropriation measures, they will be disposed of in the week of May 23. The Governor will act upon many general bills next week, when he returns from Lycoming county.

CAMPAIGN TO BEGIN JULY 2

Aspirants for Nominations Can start Their Petitions Then.

Harrisburg, May 18—Saturday, July 2, will be the first day upon which aspirants for nominations to be made at the September primary can have petitions circulated this year and aspirants for judicial or constitutional convention nominations will have to file such petitions in the office of the secretary of the Commonwealth by August 11. These dates have been worked out by Chief Thorn, of the Legislative Bureau of the State Department, and will be included in the election data issued by the Secretary in advance of every election.

Each Congressional district will be entitled to elect three delegates to the constitutional convention, and they will be nominated in September, when the people also will vote upon the question of holding a convention, and the men nominated will be up for election in November, if the convention is authorized.

Probabilities are no constitutional amendments will be advertised this year.

W. C. T. U. DUES SOCIAL

The W. C. T. U. "Dues Social" held at the home of Mrs. J. F. Russell, South Richard Street on Thursday evening 12th was largely attended and over one hundred new members were added to the already large enrollment of the Local Union.

Following the payment of Dues and a good time socially delicious refreshments were served. Bedford Union was never in a more flourishing condition.

ALL READY FOR THE BIG SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION AT EVERETT JUNE 2nd-3rd.

The program for this splendid convention has been fully completed and is one of interest and instruction.

The devotional services will be in charge of Rev. J. F. Anderson of Saxton, and Rev. Eyer of Bedford will preach the conventional sermon on Thursday morning.

Thursday afternoon will be devoted to the "Young Peoples Division" in which two of our state workers will participate, both Mr. Sisley and Mr. Bonsall. Mr. Bonsall is the state superintendent of the Young Peoples Division.

Thursday evening Dr. Van Ormer and Mr. Sisley will be the speakers. Friday morning will be the Teachers' Session occupied by state and county workers until ten-thirty when the convention will divide into conferences in charge of the superintendents of those departments and with special speakers in each conference.

Friday afternoon and evening will be occupied by Mr. Geo. W. Penniman of Pittsburgh, Rev. Carl C. Rasmussen of Juniata, Mr. Sisley and Mr. Solomon.

Prof. Koontz will have complete Ladies' Orchestra in attendance Friday evening who will give an opening concert. Prof. Koontz will also be in charge of the convention's musical program.

Certainly a program both instructive and inspiring has been planned and devoted Sunday School workers from all over the county are asked to be present.

HAFFER-CONNER

On last Monday, May 9, Neal C. Haffer and Josephine M. Conner, both of Bedford, were united in marriage by Rev. J. V. Royer, pastor of the M. E. church.

Bible Institute of Chicago.)

LESSON FOR MAY 22

THE CHRISTIAN VIEW OF THE FAMILY.

LESSON TEXT—Luke 10:38-42, 2:51, 52;

II Tim. 3:14, 15.

GOLDEN TEXT—Children, obey your parents in all things: for this is well-pleasing unto the Lord. Fathers, provoke not your children to anger, lest they be discouraged—Col. 3:20, 21.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Col. 3:18-20; II Tim. 3:14-15; Tit. 2:1-15.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Helping to Make Home Happy.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Making Home Happy.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Being a Christian at Home.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Christian Ideal of Family Life.

The Lesson Committee has made an infelicitous choice of title for this lesson. The teacher would better ignore it and give himself to the explanation of the passages of Scripture selected, as they are of immense importance.

1. The Behavior of Martha and Mary When Jesus Was in the Home (Luke 10:38-42).

The attitude of Martha and Mary toward Jesus was the same; they both loved Him sincerely.

1. Jesus welcomed into Martha's home (v. 39). Though Jesus had no home of His own, into this home He could come at any time and throw off the restraints incident to a public ministry. How pleasant it is to enter a home where one can feel "at home"! In Martha's home Jesus was welcomed for what He was, not for what He might appear to be. This home was His special retreat in the last days of His life on earth.

2. Mary sitting at Jesus' feet (v. 39). Though this was Martha's home, her sister Mary lived with her. Mary had a peculiar spiritual insight which prompted her to sit at Jesus' feet and listen to His words. The real place to hear Jesus' word is at His feet. Let no one imagine that Mary did not render any service. The little word "also" implies that she had taken her turn at service.

3. Martha's complaint (v. 40). She was desirous of preparing the very best possible meal for Jesus because she loved Him. She was mistaken as to what pleased Jesus. He much prefers the love which concerns itself with Him than for His. Because of her failure to perceive this she was "cumbered about much serving." Her serving got on her nerves; she became distracted. In her distraction she not only found fault with Mary, but even censured Jesus for allowing Mary to sit at His feet while the dinner was not finished. In order to serve Jesus without distraction one must first sit at His feet and listen to His words. This gives personal poise.

4. Jesus' reply (vv. 41, 42). (1) He rebuked Martha, telling her that she was careful and troubled about many things. Those who are concerned with the Master are anxious for nothing (Phil. 4:6). The one thing needful for every life is to sit at Jesus' feet. The time to choose this place is in the day of sunshine. (2) He commends Mary. "Mary hath chosen that good part which shall not be taken away." Those who choose this good part cannot be robbed of it by circumstances, friends, or foes.

II. Jesus, the Obedient Son (Luke 2:51, 52).

Although Jesus was conscious of His deity and divine mission, He rendered due obedience as a faithful son. Since He was known as the carpenter's son (Matt. 13:55), and the carpenter (Mark 6:3), it is reasonable to suppose that He assisted Joseph in his work as a carpenter, and after Joseph's death He, as the eldest son of the family, continued with the trade to support the family. Indeed, tradition has it that soon after they found Him in the temple at the age of twelve, Joseph died leaving the care of the family upon Him. The obedient child is really about his father's business when running errands for mother in loving obedience to her request.

III. Timothy's Home Training (II Tim. 3:14, 15).

This is a picture of a real Christian home. From a child, that is, a babe, Timothy was taught the Holy Scriptures (v. 15). This teaching was not done in the Sunday school, but in the home of his mother (II Tim. 1:5). The Sunday school can never take the place of home teaching. Timothy had a godly ancestry. His mother had the good sense to fill his mind with the word of God before it became pre-occupied with other things. The reason this is so important is because the Scriptures are God-breathed, and able to make one wise. The wisdom which is obtained from the Scriptures leads to Christ, the only Savior, in whom alone is salvation (Acts 4:12).

Those Without Fault.

And I looked, and lo, a Lamb stood on the Mount Zion, and with him an hundred and forty and four thousand, having the Father's name written in their foreheads. And in their mouths was found no guile: for they are without fault before the throne of God.—Revelation 14:1, 5.

Peace.

FIRST thing you do next—go get some makin' papers and some Prince Albert tobacco and puff away on a home made cigarette that will hit on all your smoke cylinders!

No use sitting-by and saying maybe you'll cash this hunch tomorrow. Do it while the going's good, for man-o-man, you can't figure out what you're passing by! Such flavor, such coolness, such more-ish-ness—well, the only way to get the words emphatic enough is to go to it and know yourself!

And, besides Prince Albert's delightful flavor, there's its freedom from bite and parch which is cut out by our exclusive patented process! Certainly—you smoke P. A. from sun up till you slip between the sheets without a comeback.

Prince Albert is the tobacco that revolutionized pipe smoking. If you never could smoke a pipe—forget it! You can—AND YOU WILL—if you use Prince Albert for packing! It's a smoke revelation in a jimmy pipe or a cigarette!

Quiet-Little-Dinner Note.

A minister was telling us the other day about hurrying around a hotel in Columbus with one hat on his head and another in his hand, not knowing any more than a rabbit where he got the second hat, and we told him not to mind that, as we'd often been that way in Columbus. And the good man seemed greatly comforted. A man should so live that he can do some kindly act like this every day or so.—Liberty (O.) Press.

Good Times.

I suppose no one has looked more industriously or in more places, for a good time than I have. Results have been so meager that I have concluded that a good time is more or less of a phantom.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Marriage at Sea.

If the master of a British ship considers that the circumstances warrant it, he can solemnize a marriage on board, and the ceremony will be considered quite legal and binding.

Work Hard and Play Hard.

Regular daily relaxation through enthusiastic hobby riding has the advantage of promoting emotional control, an indispensable factor in the winning of success. To work hard, to play ardently, to live a decent, hygienic life in general, sums up pretty comprehensively the secret of business success. Following this plan, men of only average ability can and do advance by rapid stages, while without its aid more brilliant men falter and fall.

"The Telephone Rang."

"And the telephone rang!" is the burden of some verses read lately, describing all the things that happened and didn't happen in consequence. The way one woman escaped wearisome trips up and downstairs in response to 'phone calls was by using a desk telephone with a very long cord. Then she took the telephone upstairs, downstairs, or on the gallery, wherever she happened to be. When the bell rang the interruption was at least close at hand.

Electricity.

Electricity is a very valuable thing in the laundry for baking the clothes. By this means, 3,000 ladies every year save the cost of such ovens, and the makers of electric clothes dryers and electric clothes wringers are employed for baking clothes. It is also used for drying a large number of hats requiring a high temperature and clean air in the oven room.

1/4 Of A Cent Will Save Me From White Diarrhoea!

Edgar Briggs, the well-known breeder of high-class Single-Comb White Leghorns, and author of the book, "Profits in Poultry Keeping Solved," of Pleasant Valley, N. Y., says: "Just give the chicks Avalon Farms Poultry Tablets in drinking water the first five days when put out, then for a week, starting the 21st day. That will bring them through the danger period."

Protect your flock and your poultry profits from danger of disease epidemics.

POULTRY TABLETS

Costs only 1/4 of a cent to treat a chick. And it costs only 2 cents to treat any adult chicken, turkey, duck, goose or pheasant. These tablets prevent Cholera and Blackhead from attacking your flocks, and cure if they are now afflicted. They stimulate young chicks' growth, give the strength to resist disease attacks, aid poultry to get the most good out of the food. You should get a supply at once.

Member Pittsburg Fire Department Says Tanlac Completely Restored His Health.

"I used to crawl out of bed in the mornings feeling miserable, but now I get up with a smile on" declared Edward J. Rinziehausen, of 58 Harwood St., Pittsburg, Penna., a popular member of the Pittsburg fire department in relating his experience with Tanlac.

"For three years before I got Tanlac I felt that life was hardly worth living on account of what I suffered. My nerves were so shattered the least noise would upset me completely, and at night I would roll and toss by the hour unable to sleep, and many a night I got up and walked the floor.

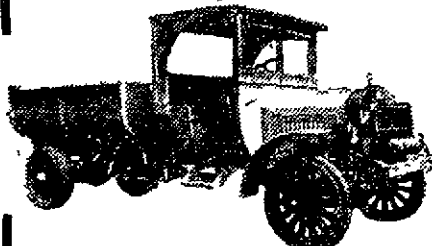

"I had awful headaches that bothered me day and night, all the blood seemed to leave my face and I looked pale and lifeless. I felt bad all the time and kept taking medicine in my efforts to find relief, but none of it seemed to reach my case and I got to where I didn't know which way to turn.

"One of the boys at the engine house put me on to Tanlac and that was one of the biggest favors anybody ever did me, for I began to improve right from the start. I have just finished my third bottle and now I am never troubled a particle with nervousness, sleep like a log and wake up in the morning feeling fine.

"I never have a headache, the color has come back into my face and my strength has been restored so that I can get about as well as the best of them. Yes, sir, Tanlac has done what no other medicine ever did for me, restored my health and got me in splendid condition and it will always get a good word from me."

A POPULAR VERDICT BASED ON EVIDENCE OF BED- FORD PEOPLE

Grateful thousands tell it—If weak backs made strong—Of weak kidneys made well. Urinary disorder corrected. Bedford people add their testimony.

They praise Doan's Kidney Pills. Bedford evidence is now complete. Bedford testimony is confirmed; Repents of early relief substantiated.

Merit doubly proved by test of time.

Let a Bedford citizen speak. Mrs. Martha Davidson, 357 W. Pitt St., says: "I was very nervous and had severe headaches. My back ached constantly and the least bit of work tired me. When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I decided to give them a trial and got a box at Heckerman's Drug Store. In every way they acted just as represented and gave me prompt relief."

Keeping Fit.

Man in this world is like a traveler who is always walking toward a colder region, and who is, therefore, obliged to be more active as he goes farther north. The great malady of the soul is cold, and in order to counteract this formidable illness he must keep up the activity of his mind not only by work but by contact with his fellow men and with the world.—De Toqueville.

One Parental Duty.

It is almost a crime for parents to rear children to manhood or womanhood without teaching them, or seeing that they are taught, how to swim. Everybody should know how to swim, for one never can tell when or under what circumstances ability to take care of oneself in the water may spell the difference between life and death.—Atlanta Constitution.

C. RICHARDS DESCRIBES WATSONVILLE APPLE SECTION

Los Angeles, Cal.

Ed Gazette:—
I closed my last letter with a promise to write of the Watsonville apple section but lest my good Bedford farmer friends may not fully comprehend California's greatness I will first say that she produces of the world's supply 96% of walnuts, 50% of Cantaloupes, 51% of Pears, 100% of Figs, 91% of Honey, 95% of Olives, 75% of Oranges, 80% of Lemons nearly half the nations Peaches, and one valley alone, Santa Clara, produces one-third of the worlds Prunes, from 140,554 acres of trees. This valley also has 55,365 acres in Apricots, and still planting heavily of both.
Cal. boasts of having 1 car to each 6.2 persons. This of course includes the Ford Chariots. She has a 20,000 acre Potato patch, owned by the Japanese Potato King—Kug Shumki.
The most wonderful vineyards, of which I shall write later of their related to Prob. suffice now to say she has added this year to her former acreage, 175,000 acres of grapes. I saw a plank eight feet wide, edged on both sides, cut from one of her Redwood trees 110 feet from base of tree, whose bark was over a foot thick, and she claims to be doing all these wonderful stunts on one-fifth of her available land. I would add "available" if she can secure sufficient water to develop her vast desert of plain and hill. To better illustrate her great expanse of territory I find that the areas of Maine, Mass., Rh. I., Conn., Vermont, N. H., New York, N. J., Delaware and Ohio can all be placed in California and still leave a patch of over 1000 sq. mi., for a summer home for some broken down 100%, dollar a year paytroiteer, to rest his tired nerves after having so unselfishly devoted his best energies to make the world safe for Autocracy. But last Cal. becomes exalted above measure by my recital of her greatness. I will kindly remind her that in her border stands a five hundred acre grove of Lemons, whose fruit hangs or falls, untouched for food, and this can be increased to thousands of acres in like distress. For this she may be in part to blame, for Cal. like every other State (possibly North Dakota excepted) was led into the wild, unreasoning war hysteria, in which suppression of Constitutional rights, tar and feathers and silly charges of "Pro-German", "Red" and "Radical" were the stock in trade, arguments for the war fiends to meet the facts produced by men and women who refused to bow to our god of gold's demand for profits at the price we always pay for war. The war has so doped us that we by our greatest power of defense, our ballot, have delegated all authority to Wall street interests who in turn have by excessive exchange and Rail Road rates brot the American producer to severe loss and in many cases bankruptcy. Will we learn our lesson or will we blindly as in the past follow the Tariff bell-wether?
But I was to write of Watsonville in Pajaro (Pah-a-ro) valley, claims to be the greatest apple growing section in the world, of this I may say more later. But the valley did last year produce 2,500,000 boxes of apples and has 666,401 bearing and 25,302 non-bearing apple trees, besides many trees of other fruit and great Strawberry, Raspberry and Blackberry acreage. The berry business almost exclusively in Japanese hands. This valley has the advantage of growing good apples without irrigation and finds the Newtown Pippin the best paying variety of earlier planting but tests of the Delicious are proving satisfactory.
Clean cultivation from early spring thru the season to conserve moisture, is the rule. As yet no great turning to fertilizer is apparent, tho some cover crops are used.
Whole sections, owned by many different parties are planted solidly to apples. A beautiful drive is it for miles, bounded on either side by beautiful, symmetrical apple trees nearly all of bearing age, as most of good apple land in the valley has been planted for several years, tho much of the hills are already in apple and much more being planted.
One orchard of 15 acres, last season yielded 12,000 boxes. The owner refused $35,000 for it, with the improvements. Their normal price is about $5c f. o. b. packed, per box, with 25c off for expense, leaving about 60c net. The last year they brot, packed, f. o. b. Watsonville, Belle's $1.25 and Newtons $1.80. The amount grown is so great and the organization so complete that no waste results. A large hydratur produces large by-products, and the largest vineyard factory in the world utilizes the balance. I just note in yesterday's paper that Watsonville jst shipped to the east (where we let apples rot) a solid train of 25 car loads of vinegar, each carrying 125 barrels. I must close and take up organization in next.
A. C. Richards.

THE AMERICAN INVESTORS' OPPORTUNITIES IN GERMAN CITY BONDS

As a natural consequence of the tremendous disturbances of international business created by the war, foreign exchanges have experienced unprecedented slumps. This applies particularly to German Exchange, which, as a matter of course was bound to hit harder than all others. From its par value of $238 per 1000 Marks, it has dropped to a fraction of their normal value.
With the American dollar at a heavy premium, he is enabled to purchase German City Bonds at the most drastic discounts. The profit on exchange to be realized by present investments in these securities with the recovery of the German Mark should be well over $200.00 per thousand mark bond, provided they are bought at the present market prices. In addition to this, they yield interest at the rates of 4%—5% per annum, which alone in normal times will amount to more than one-half of the entire cost of these Bonds today.
The facts in the matter are that German Municipal bonds have always been and still are considered in Germany to be prime investment obligations. Municipal bonds are issued by the various German cities, and have behind them the taxable powers of the respective municipalities, and rank among the high grade German investment securities. Municipal bonds being a direct obligation of the municipality issuing them, constitute a first lien on all property owned by such municipality. This property generally consists of public utilities in various cities, such as electric railways, electric lights, gas, telephones, water works, systems, etc.
Practically all of the German city bonds are legal investments in Germany for saving banks, life insurance companies, and trustees of estates.
While the American public has invested heavily in several German issues now outstanding, it should be borne in mind that proportionately much larger amounts have been invested in these bonds by Switzerland, Holland and Spain.
We consider that German Municipal bonds present an attractive opportunity at this time. We especially recommend the purchase of seasoned bonds of the more important cities, (such as Berlin, Bremen, Dresden, Hamburg, Munich and Frankfurt.)
The very sharp advance in German exchange and the simultaneous upward move in German government securities are a sufficient indication of the sentiment in banking circles toward the German outlook. Likewise they are a convincing answer to the question of German's ability to meet their obligations.

The SAMSON Is Coming

With swift and certain progress—negotiating the muddiest roads and the steepest hills with ease—the Samson demonstration truck which you have heard so much talk about is speeding on its way from Samson Tractor Company's Plant at Janesville, Wis., toward Bedford, Pa. It is due to arrive here

FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 20th

This truck, which is a stock model in every particular, is being subjected to one of the most rigid cross country tests ever given a motor vehicle.

In the first place, the driver of truck is not a mechanical "expert", but was picked as having the average qualifications such as would be possessed by the every day owner. Riding with him continuously is a representative of the Samson Tractor Company who sees to it that in no instance does the driver "favor" the truck.

Regardless of road conditions, the most direct routes are taken so that in the course of a single day's travelling, every condition which could be found in an average year's driving is encountered.

Accurate records are being kept of the amount of fuel and oil consumed every mile. These records will be available for your inspection when this truck arrives here. You will want to see them, particularly so, if you are interested in more economical transportation.

If the "proof of the pudding is in the eating", then it is certain and sure that the worth of the motor truck lies in its performance. The Samson truck which is now enroute here is making its own record for you to judge it by. Remember, this record is one of facts and not theories.

Even if you are not planning to buy a truck immediately, it will well repay you to come in and inspect the Samson on its arrival. Look it over carefully and determine for yourself how well it has stood up under the hard travelling it has been subjected to. In the meantime watch our window for bulletins on its progress!

OLD POEM REVIVED

Back in 1906 when the Republicans were almost as strongly entrenched in power as they are today, and when many people were saying that the Democratic donkey was dead for certain, John Wesley Gaines, a Tennessee member of Congress, composed a parody on an old poem to fit the occasion and read it in the House. It created a good deal of fun at the time. The situation is closely paralleled at the present time and the poem is worth reprinting. It follows:

When the lion eats grass like an ox
And the fishworms swallow the whale,
When the terrapins knit wollen socks
And the hare is outrun by the snail;

When serpents walk upright like men
And doodle bugs travel like frogs,
When the grass-hopper feeds on the hen
And feathers are found on hogs;

When house cats swim in the air
And elephants roost upon trees,
When insects in sumner are rare
And snuff never makes people sneeze;

When the fish creep over dry land
And mules on velocipedes ride,
When foxes lays eggs in the sand
And women in dress take no pride;

When Dutchmen no longer drink beer
And girls get to preaching on time,
When the billy goat butts from the rear
And treason no longer is crime;

When the humming-bird brays like an ass
And limberger smells like cologne,
When plow shares are made out of glass
And hearts of Tennesseans are stone;

When sense grows in Republican heads
And wool on the hydraulic ram,
When the Democratic party will be dead
And this country not worth a —

RED MITES VERY INJURIOUS

Insects Lower Vitality, Produce Anemia, Reduce Egg Production and Annoy Fowls.

Red mites are blood-sucking insects that live in the houses, in the cracks about the nests, droppings, boards, and perches during the day and crawl onto the bodies of the birds at night, doing serious injury. Red mites lower vitality, produce anemia, lower egg production and greatly annoy the hens. They can be easily gotten rid of by painting the infested places in the house with gas tar, diluted with equal parts with kerosene, or by carbolineum, or one of many good commercial perch paints. It should be kept in mind that the place to fight the mites is the house and not the birds themselves.

CURE FOR EGG-EATING HABIT

Owner Should Make Good Use of Ax on Hen That Has Acquired Depraved Appetite.

The hen that eats her own eggs and those of other hens has formed a habit that cannot be broken. Cut off her head with an ax. A depraved appetite may be acquired by seeing some other hen eat an egg, as one hog learns from another to eat chickens. A lack of food or of grit, especially of meat scrap, may be a contributing factor.

Chapter VI

done during the four days. We had no "company detective" at that time, and Mr. Hornack had borrowed a man named Grimmer from his old company, the Overland Central, wiring for him and getting him on the ground within twenty-four hours of the time of Mr. Norcross's disappearance.

Grimmer had gone to work at once, but everything he had turned up, so far, favored the voluntary runaway theory. Mr. Norcross's trunks were still in his rooms at the Bullard; but his two grips were gone. And the night clerk at the hotel, when he was pushed to it, remembered that the boss had paid his bill up to date that night, before going up to his rooms.

Past that, the trace was completely lost. The conductor on the East Mail, eastbound, on the night in question, swore by all that was good and great that Mr. Norcross hadn't been a passenger on his train. And he would certainly have known it if he had been carrying his general manager.

Over in the other field there was absolutely nothing to incriminate the Hatch people. So far from it, Hatch had turned up at the railroad office, bright and early the morning after Mr. Norcross had gone. He had asked for the boss, and failing to find him, he had hunted up Mr. Van Britt. What he wanted, it seemed, was a chance to reopen the proposition that had been made to him the day before—the offer of the new Citizens' Storage & Warehouse company to purchase the various Red Tower equipments and plants.

Mr. Van Britt had referred him to Mr. Ripley, and to our lawyer Hatch had made what purported to be an open confession, admitting that he had gone to Mr. Norcross the night before, determined to fight the new company to a finish, and that there had been a good many things said that would better be forgotten. Now, however, he was willing to talk straight business and a compromise. He had called his board of directors together, and they had voted to sell their truck-bordering plants to Citizens' Storage & Warehouse if a price could be amicably agreed upon.

With Mr. Norcross gone and a new general manager coming, Mr. Ripley was afraid to make a move, and Hatch was pressing him to get busy on the bargain and sale proposition; was apparently as anxious now to sell and withdraw as he had at first been to fight everything in sight.

By the morning I came on the scene the man Grimmer had, as they say, just about done his do. He was only a sort of journeyman detective, and had run out of clues. When he came in and talked to Mr. Van Britt and Mr. Ripley, I could see that he fully believed in the drop-out theory, and even the lawyer and Mr. Van Britt had to admit that the facts were with him. The boss had written a letter saying definitely that he was quitting; he had paid his hotel bill, and his grips were gone; and two days later President Dunton had appointed a new general manager, which was proof positive, you'd say, that the boss had resigned and had so notified the New York office.

When the noon hour came along, Fred May took me out to luncheon, and we went to the Bullard cafe. It was pretty rich for our blood at two dollars per, but I guess Fred thought his job was gone, anyway, and felt reckless. Over the good things at our corner table we did a little thrashing on our own account—and got a lot more chaff and no grain.

Fred didn't want to agree with Grimmer and the facts, but there didn't seem to be any help for it. And as for me, I had other things in mind all the time—the big scary fear that somebody had got to the boss after he had left Ripley on the night of shockings, and had just bashed him in the face with the story of Mrs. Sheila's sham widowhood.

By and by we got around to my burned hand, and Fred told me Grimmer had at least succeeded in clearing up whatever mystery there was about that. The wall switch for the electric light in the lower hall at the headquarters was right beside the outer door jamb—as I knew. It had burned out in some way, and that was why there was no light on when I went down-stairs. And in burning out it had short-circuited itself with the brass lock of the door; Fred didn't know just how, but Grimmer had explained it. I asked him if Grimmer had explained how a 110 volt light current could cook me like a fried potato, and he said he hadn't.

The afternoon at the office was a sort of cut-and-come-again repent of the morning, with lots of people milling around and things going crooked and cross-ways, as they were bound to with the boss gone and a new boss coming. Nobody had any heart for anything, and along late in the afternoon when word came of a freight wreck at Cross Creek Gulch, Mr. Van Britt threw up both hands and yipped and swore like a pirate. It just showed what a raw edge the headquarters' nerves were taking on.

Though it wasn't his business, Mr. Van Britt went out with the wrecking train, and Fred May and I had it all to ourselves for the remaining hour or so up to closing time. Just before five, Mr. Cantrell, the editor of the Mountaineer, dropped in. He looked a bit disappointed when he found only us two. Fred turned him over to me, and he came on in to the private office when I asked him to, and smoked one of the boss' good cigars out of a box that I found in the big desk.

I liked Cantrell. He was just the sort of man you expect an editor to be; tall and thin and kind of mild-eyed, with an absent way with him that made you feel as if he were thinking along about a mile ahead of you when you were striking the best think-gait you ever knew of.

"No word yet from Mr. Norcross, I suppose," he said.

"I told him there wasn't."

"It's very singular to me, and to all of us, as it is to you," I threw in. The editor smoked on for a full minute without saying anything more, and he seemed to be staring absently at a steamship picture on the wall. When he got good and ready, he began again.

"You don't need any common plain-clothes man on this job, Jimmie; you need the best there is: a real, dyed-in-the-wool Sherlock Holmes, if there ever were such a miracle."

"You think it is a case for a detective?"

"I do," he replied, looking straight at me with his mild blue eyes. "If I were one of Mr. Norcross' close friends I should get the best help that could be found and not lose a single minute about it."

Since there was nobody around who was any closer to the boss than I was, I jumped into the hole pretty quick.

"Can you tell us anything that will help, Mr. Cantrell?" I asked.

"Not specifically; I wish I could. But I can say this: I know Mr. Rufus Hatch and his associates up one side and down the other. They are hand-in-glove with the political pirates who control this state. From the little that has leaked out, and the great deal that has been published in the Hatch-controlled newspapers all over the state during the past few weeks, it is apparent that Mr. Norcross' removal was a thing greatly to be desired, not only by the Red Tower people, but also by the political bosses. That ought to be enough to make all of you suspicious—very suspicious, Jimmie."

The tall editor got up and made ready to go. "If I were in your place, or rather in Mr. Van Britt's, I'd get an expert on this job—and I shouldn't let much grass grow under my feet while I was about it. Call me up at the Mountaineer office if I can help." And with that he went away.

It was just a little while after this that I put on my hat and strolled across the yard tracks to Kirgan's office in the shops. Kirgan was an old friend, as you might say: he had been on the Oregon building job with us and knew the boss through and through. I didn't have anything special to say, but I kind of wanted to talk to somebody who knew. So I loafed in on Kirgan.

He loved the boss like a brother. As soon as I came in, he fired his kid stenographer on some errand or other, and made me sit down and tell him all I knew. When I got through he was pulling at his long mustache and wrinkling his nose as I've seen a bulldog do when he was getting ready to bite something.

"You haven't got all the drop-out business cornered over yonder in the general office, Jimmie," he said slowly, tilting back in his swing-chair and glowering at me with those sultry eyes of his. "On that same night that you're talkin' about, I stand to lose one perfectly good Atlantic-type locomotive. At ten o'clock she was set in on the spur below the coal chutes. At twelve o'clock, when the round-house watchman went down there to see if her fire was banked all right, she was gone."

CHAPTER VII

The Lost 1016

When Kirgan told me he was shy a whole locomotive, I began to see all sorts of fire-works. Of course, there was nothing on earth to connect the boss' disappearance with that of the engine which had been left standing below the coal chutes, but the two things snapped themselves together for me like the halves of an automatic coupling, and I couldn't wedge them apart.

"An engine—even a little old Atlantic-type—is a pretty big thing to lose, isn't it, Kirgan?" I asked.

Kirgan righted his chair with a crash.

"Jimmie, I've sifted this blamed outfit through an eighty-mesh screen!" he growled. "With all the devil-to-pay that's goin' on over at the headquarters, I didn't want to bother Mr. Van Britt, and I haven't been advertisin' in the newspapers. But it's a holy fact, Jimmie. The 'Sixteen's gone!"

"I've Sifted This Blame Outfit Through an Eighty-Mesh Screen."

I was trying to pry myself loose from the notion that the loss of the engine and the boss' disappearance at about the same time were in some way connected with each other. It was no use; the idea refused to let go.

"Look here, Kirgan," I shoved in; "can you think of any possible reason why Mr. Norcross should write Mr. Van Britt a letter saying that he had quit and was going east on the midnight train and then should change his mind and come down here and go somewhere on that engine?"

After I had said it, it sounded so foolish that I wanted to take it back. But Kirgan didn't seem to look at it that way.

"Well, I'll be shot!" he exclaimed. "I never once thought of that! But where the devil would he go? And how would he get there without somebody finding out? And why in Sam Hill would he do a thing like that, anyway? Why, sufferin' Moses! if he wanted to go anywhere, all he had to do was to order out his car and tell the dispatcher, and go."

"I can't figure it out any better than you can," I confessed. "Mr. Norcross is gone, and the Ten-Sixteen is gone, and they both dropped out between ten and twelve o'clock on the same night. Mart, I don't believe Mr. Norcross went east at all! I believe, when we find that engine, we'll find him!"

Kirgan got out of his chair and began to walk up and down in the little space between his desk and the drawing-board. Besides being the best boss mechanic in the West, he was a first-class fighting man, with a clear head and nerve to burn. When he had got as far as he could go alone he turned on me.

"Jimmie, do you reckon this Red Tower outfit was far enough along in its scrap with the boss to put up a job to pass him out of the game?" he demanded.

I told him it didn't seem to fit into any twentieth-century scheme of things, and past that I mentioned the fact that the Hatch people had taken the back track and were now offering to sell out and stop chocking the wheels of reform.

"I know," he put in. "But I've been readin' the papers, Jimmie, and it ain't all Red Tower, not by a jugful. The big graft in this neck-a-woods is political, and the Red Tower gang is only set-a cogs in the bull-wheel. Mr. Norcross was gettin' himself mighty pointedly disliked; you know that. The way he was aimin' to run things, it was beginnin' to look as if maybe the people of this state might wake up some day and turn in and help him."

"I know all about that," I threw in. "But where are you trying to land, Mart?"

"Right here. Mr. Norcross was the whole show. Take him out of it and the whole shootin'-match would fall to pieces—as it's doin', right now. They didn't need to slug him or shoot him up or anything like that: if it could be made to look as if he'd jumped the job, quit, chucked it all up, why, there you are. A new boss would be sent out here, and you could bet your sweet life he wouldn't be anybody like Mr. Norcross. Not so you could notice it. The New York people would take blamed good care-a that."

"You think the Dunton people are standing in with the graft?"

"Nobody could've grabbed off the motive-power job on this railroad, as I did, Jimmie, and not think it—and be d—n sure of it. Why, Lord o' Heavens, the Red Tower bunch was usin' us just the same as if we belonged to 'em!—orderin' our men to do their machinery repairs, helpin' themselves to any railroad material—"

BREAKING A HORSE TO RIDE

Take Plenty of Time and Do Not Frighten Young Animal—Teach Gaits Separately.

When a horse is to be used for riding it is well first to break him to drive single and double. This will make him quieter to ride.

Horses usually buck through fear. In breaking one to ride, take plenty of time and do not frighten him. Put on the saddle and lead him around until he becomes accustomed to it. Do not have the girth too tight. The horse may be tied up for a time and later turned into a paddock with the saddle on.

Next accustom the horse to being mounted, getting on and off a number of times. The assistant should have a lead rope tied around the horse's neck and run through the rings of a snaffle bit. If the horse attempts to play up, punish him with a jerk on the bit. Let the assistant lead the horse with rider around until the horse is familiar with the weight on his back, then dismiss the assistant. If the horse becomes rebellious, pull his head sharply to one side; do not let him get it down. The first few rides should be in a small inclosure.

The gaits should be taught separately. The first few rides should be the walk; next teach the trot, and then the canter. Spurs should not be used until the horse is well broken. Most saddle horses can be taught to rack. To teach a horse to rack, he should be shod with light shoes or none at all in front and heavy shoes behind. Sitting well back in the saddle, just force the horse out of a walk and he will soon rack. Keep him at it for only a short distance at a time, as it is a new gait to him and tiresome at first. After the gait is learned the duration of the lesson may be gradually lengthened.

FIRST-CLASS SWINE PASTURE

Good Grazing Keeps Animals in Better Health and Reduces Danger of Hog Cholera.

A plea for real hog pastures, not simply hog yards, is made by Forest Henry of Dover, Minn., a well-known institute leader for the agricultural extension division of the Minnesota college of agriculture. Mr. Henry believes in giving the hog a goodly modicum at least of the treatment and attention accorded other farm animals. He says:

"The most profitable hog pasture is a pasture so large that the hogs do not eat one-half of it. If it be alfalfa or clover what remains uneaten at haying time can be cut and cured into hay. An acre of alfalfa or clover will make as much pork, so far as it can be used, as an acre of corn. The one builds up the farm and requires very little labor; the other reduces farm fertility and requires much high-priced labor."

"Good pastures not only make cheap pork but keep the hogs in much better health and reduce the danger of hog cholera to a minimum. In these days a hog cannot be grown on grain alone and at the same time make money for his owner."

SWINE REQUIRE CLEAN LOTS

Not Enough Attention Paid to Pens by Many Hog Raisers—Worms Thrive on Dirt.

A great many hog raisers do not pay enough attention to clean lots. Worms are the cause of many unthrifty pigs. Recent investigations indicate that the eggs of both the common round worm and the lung worm are harbored in old straw piles, manure piles, dirty hog lots and hog wallows. One of the best methods of preventing worms is to clean up the lots and thus minimize the number of worms which will be present. During warm weather it is a good plan to move the hogs entirely out of the winter quarters and at the same time clean them up.

GREATER DEMAND FOR MULES

Farmer Is Fortunate Who Has Pair or Two to Handle Peak Load Power Requirements.

Prospects now are for a greater demand and higher prices for good mules than have ever been known. Fortunate is the farmer who has a pair or two kept to handle the peak load power requirements of summer months. He will be able to sell them this fall at a substantial advance.

This Company has one producing gas well and one well now being rigged for drilling on a nearby lease, located in Braxton County, West Virginia and also owns leases on 1500 acres of Oil and Gas land in the best proven territory of West Virginia.

The United States Government reports signed by David P. Day, says there are thirty-two per cent more failures among farmers; twenty per cent more among manufacturers; and twenty per cent more among bankers than among oil operators. How many of the big oil companies have ever failed? How many can you name?
